

Make Your Next Meeting a Memorable One

Steve Weber as
Forrest Gump
S P E A K E R
a Tribute

Steve Weber, a.k.a. Forrest Gump, is a professional speaker who works with companies and organizations to improve individual and organizational performance. Using the persona, wit, and wisdom of Forrest Gump, Steve delivers interactive, lively, and motivational programs.

Keynotes      Seminars
Breakouts     Meal Functions

"All seen through the eyes of Forrest Gump"

Genetic Luck, A Bad Haircut, and the Idiot Part Comes Natural

— When Life Gives You Lemons, Make Lemonade

- Laugh at yourself ... All the Way to the Bank
- Learn to Recognize and Take Advantage of your Core Talents
- 5 Steps to Develop your own Core Values
- How to ALWAYS be in Good Spirits and make the BEST out of Everything
- 3 Simple Methods to Leverage your Strengths
- 3 Reliable Tricks to Overcome your Weaknesses
- Believe in yourself ... even when others don't (or won't)

Everyone is born with natural attributes and qualities. Learn to recognize your strengths and limitations -- your genetic luck. Along the paths of life, you'll be required to do things that you don't like or are unpleasant -- you'll decide to get a bad haircut. With a positive attitude and the willingness to see the glass half full, you'll be able to proudly proclaim, "The idiot part comes natural." Recognize the hidden benefits of laughing at yourself and with others. When you follow your heart and are true to your core values, you will start having more fun and increase your odds for success in business, family, and life.

This session asks individuals and companies to look internally for greater inspiration and solutions to current challenges. It is especially beneficial for those individuals and groups that may have gone stale or are stuck in a rut. While not exactly a kick in the pants ... or a bullet hole in the buttocks ... this topic asks individuals to take a good look in the mirror ... and find the solutions that lie within.

Testimonials

"When faced with the challenge of introducing the corporate goals and new strategic direction for our company of 300 employees at the annual meeting, we were so happy we hired Steve Weber as Forrest Gump. Not only was his presentation entertaining, but he did it in a way that was extremely effective. Most importantly, we used Steve's talent to get our message across, and it is a meeting to this day that employees refer back to when we discuss our corporate objectives.

"I would highly recommend Steve for any organization that has an important idea or message to communicate, in a way that will always be remembered."

— Mark Ferrari, President, OneWorkPlace, San Jose, CA

Steve Weber

406.396.4611
steve@speakinggump.com

SpeakingGump.com